A New Psalm

Easter is such a time of great joy, isn't it? We've now ended the Easter Season and have entered the Season of Pentecost - a time to put our focus on the Holy Spirit.

I believe in resurrection and in the power of God at work in the world through the Holy Spirit, but even so, I have to admit that the news over the past few months has disturbed me and been a distraction from the joy I normally experience this time of year.

Hearing about brothers and sisters in Christ being taken prisoner and being asked to deny their Christian faith and then being killed was (and is) causing distress in my spirit. I pray for them, but I needed another outlet for releasing some of the anxiety stirring within me. Yet, I could not think of anything. Most of my life I've loved to write - writing prayers and journaling, but I could not get motivated for writing.

This past month, however, I attended a 5 Day Academy for Spiritual Formation in Alabama. The focus was on praying the Psalms; Psalms for Life. (Find out more by going to www.academy.upperroom.org.) Our wonderful, leaders, Dr. Don Saliers and Dr. Roberta Bondi, gave presentations on the Psalms that motivated and inspired us to write our own Psalms.

In writing this psalm of lament that can be sung to the tune of Amazing Grace, I discovered the outlet I needed to be able to release a bit of stress and to feel some connection with those whom I am praying for.

Here is my Psalm. You can probably expect more to come!

Remember Us, O God©

A Contemporary Psalm of Lament by Dr. Sharlyn DeHaven Gates
Dedicated to Christians around the world who are losing their lives because of their faith.

How long, O Lord, we cry how long must we wait here in fear?
Have we been left alone to die
or are you really here?

From light and joy we've fallen now
into this slimy pit.
We're overwhelmed with tears and grief
in this hell where we sit.

Our enemies threaten us day by day
"Deny your God, or die!"
Are you still here protecting us,

or, is it all a lie?

Remember us, O God of love
give strength for what's ahead.
To know your Presence in this place
gives peace instead of dread.

I will remember you, O Lord,
Your promises of grace.
I'll hold my head up high and sing
your praises in this place.

You are my Light, my Life, my Hope!
You're love will be my song.
In life or death I will profess -
to you my soul belongs!

May 2015

Peace and Grace to you all!

Reverend Sharlyn

A Word from Pastor Shaun. . .

Spring has arrived, the grass is greening up from the rain and the dandelions are beginning to pop out like spots on a Dalmatian. In addition, the trees are raining down beautiful flower pedals that would make any bride excited on her wedding day.

As wonderful and beautiful as these sites and smells of spring are we have something that is bright and beautiful that will not cause you to take allergy medicine. And it will last longer than the spring flowers at your home. This new and exciting item is the first edition of the Holy Presbyterian Church's "Parenting Christian Kids" newsletter which is filled with both advice for parents and a good mix of things about our church. Take some time to look at this newsletter and find ways to share this new publication with others both in the church and in your daily lives.

Remember the grass will wither and the flowers will fade, but the word of God will be with you forever. So start today by reading the Spring 2015 edition of "Parenting Christian Kids" and begin planting the seeds of tomorrow by finding ways to use this newsletter in your sharing of God with others in your life.

Peace in Christ,
Pastor Shaun

Something to think about. . . .

Coming to church is a huge step for many people. It can make them feel uncomfortable and vulnerable. When we use language that's so foreign to them, it reinforces the idea that they're outsiders, that they don't belong. It may be difficult to be mindful of what we say and how we say it, to work to minimize the insider language and 'church idioms' we use, but it makes your church more welcoming to the people who most need to be welcomed in. And that's worth it.
